

FINAL EDITION — 44 PAGES, FOUR SECTIONS

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., MONDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1970

10c

Weather:
Cloudy - Colder

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS: Army Spec. 4 Larry D. McNew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beck of Coloma, arrives at Oakland, Calif., en route home from Vietnam on first "Homecoming-USA" flight for Christmas holidays. A warm welcome is extended by Kathleen Foxworthy, stewardess for World Airways. "Homecoming-USA" flights are operated by World Airways and the USO for servicemen with at least four months, but not more than eight months, in Vietnam. Fourteen-day leaves were announced recently by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commanding general, military assistance command, Vietnam. McNew entered the army two years ago and has served about six months in Vietnam.

During W.W. II

Russians Feared More Than Nazis

LONDON (AP) — Ten months before D-Day, Allied military strategists discussed the possibility of repelling the Russians if they suddenly began overrunning Nazi Germany.

Gen. George C. Marshall, World War II U.S. chief of staff, asked his British counterpart in August 1943 if he thought Germany would help Allied troops enter Europe "to repel the Russians."

The quotation came from official minutes of the Combined Chiefs of Staff which were made public today in London and Washington.

Sir Alan Brooke, British chief of staff, told Marshall he had been thinking along similar lines. He said, however, that Dr. Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia did not think the Russians would try to sweep over Europe immediately.

The British marshal quoted Dr. Benes as believing Soviet Russia would be bled so badly by the war that it would need a few years to get its economy going again.

Marshall commented in a meeting of the chiefs of staff that Russia was turning an "increasingly hostile eye on the capitalist world." The Russians, he said, were becoming increasingly contemptuous of their Western allies.

Although minutes of the meeting did not background the reasons, apparently the Russian view stemmed from Allied refusal to invade Europe as soon as Moscow would have liked.

CAUTION TAKEN

Early in the world conflict the Allies began to treat Russia with some caution. The combined Chiefs had technicians studying what weapons it could give Russia, what weapons and information it could not give the Russians and what the technicians were doubtful about.

The British chief of staff, while going along with Dr. Benes' view, told Marshall he expected Russia to ask for a part of Poland, at least part of the Baltic states and for concessions in the Balkans.

Strategy against the Japanese discussed by the Combined Chiefs was based on the belief that Russia would not declare war against Japan, or if it did, then it would be so late the result would be obvious.

The major part of the records of meetings of the Combined Chiefs of Staff, a total of 100,000 (See back page, sec. 1, col. 8) years old.

But, in another 5 1/2 vote, the court barred lowering the age for state and local elections.

At the same time, the court unanimously upheld the elimination of literacy tests for voting, wherever they exist in the nation.

And it ruled 8 to 1 that states cannot set residence requirements of more than 30 days for voting in presidential elections.

The court issued its decision on the 1970 Federal Voting Rights Act at its last public session of the year. The ruling split the court and the justices took several hundred pages to set forth their views.

NEW POLISH LEADERS PROMISE BIG CHANGES

Elves Bringing Santa Letters

Children Pour Their Hearts Into Yule Notes

By BRANDON BROWN
Staff Writer

NORTH POLE (Special) — An avalanche of letters from Twin City area youngsters has been forwarded to Santa's domain in the snowy wastes here by elves in the Benton Harbor post office.

Most are letters from youngsters who pledge to the jolly old saint that they've been good the past year and would appreciate some toys in return.

One Benton Harbor girl told Santa she's been good "all years," though she didn't say how old she is.

HONESTY PAYS

At least one youngster confided he's been both good and bad, but Santa regards honesty as a virtue and indicated toys will be forthcoming anyhow.

Many youngsters say they'll have cookies and milk waiting for Santa to snack on when he arrives by reindeer on Christmas eve. Several tots told Santa how much he means to them and were thoughtful enough to thank him for the gifts he delivered last year.

A tyke from St. Joseph thanked Santa for past gifts and added: "I guess I don't want much this year, but so what" and included a request for three toys "and clothes for Pussy Cat."

A Fairplain girl had some frank admissions and puzzling spelling for Santa. She wrote: "I have so many toys my mother will throw them out. I really want more toys for Christmas. Like a baby kitten."

A lad from Coloma began his letter to the red-suited saint with a breezy "Hi!" and continued: "Are you busy this year? Well, all I want is 16 things. It won't take too long, OK."

Some of the letter addresses and salutations gave Santa a momentary start — especially "Dear Santa" from a fledgling (See back page, sec. 1, col. 6)

GIEREK REPLACES GOMULKA: Wladyslaw Gomulka, right, Polish Communist party boss, resigned Sunday following riots against government-imposed price increases. Radio Warsaw said Edward Gierek, left, considered to be the party's top economist, was named to replace Gomulka. (AP Wirephoto)

Gomulka Toppled By Riots

Will Retain Allegiance To Moscow

WARSAW (AP) — Poland's new Communist leadership indicates it will revise the economic plans that spawned last week's rioting and will maintain total allegiance to Moscow.

Otherwise, its future course is unclear. Western observers consider the new party First Secretary Edward Gierek a dedicated Communist identified with neither the liberal nor the nationalistic party factions.

Radio Warsaw reported Sunday that Gierek, the party's top economist and party secretary of Silesia, had replaced Wladyslaw Gomulka, who resigned along with President Marian Spychalski and three other members of the Politburo. Apparently Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz was not affected.

REMAINED QUIET

Gierek's success in keeping his home province quiet was seen as a key to his promotion. As bloody riots shook Gdansk, Gdynia, Sopot, Szczecin and Slupsk—shipbuilding, seaport and industrial centers in the north—workers remained quiet in industrial Silesia, where violence was widespread during the bread riots that brought Gomulka to power in 1956.

Last week's disturbances began after the Gomulka regime raised prices 17 to 20 per cent on food, clothing and other essentials in a prelude to a new five-year plan that was to begin next month.

In a television address after his elevation, Gierek said: "We will have to reconsider carefully the problem of the economic plan for next year and for the whole five-year period."

The riots, he said, resulted from "inconsiderate concepts in economic policy. We will remove these." He said his administration will consult with "the working class and intelligentsia," adding:

"Recent events have reminded us in a painful manner this basic truth: that the party must always maintain a close link with the working class and the whole nation."

He said hostile forces cannot "lead us astray or return us from the road of Socialism. We are going together with the whole great Socialist community and chiefly with our tested (See back page, sec. 1, col. 8)

Wounded By Hunter Little Girl Winning Battle To Survive

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Little Karyn Prestwich will open her Christmas presents Friday in a hospital bed, and she'll eat the traditional turkey dinner with her family in a hospital cafeteria.

Despite the antiseptic surroundings, Karyn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prestwich, say it will be the happiest Christmas their family has ever spent.

Their 6-year-old daughter is winning a struggle for life which began when she was mistaken for a deer Nov. 6 on a rural highway near her home in North Fork, Idaho.

WAITING FOR BUS

Blonde, blue-eyed Karyn, who started first grade in September, was waiting for her school bus when she was struck in the stomach by a rifle bullet.

Taken to a Salmon, Idaho, hospital and later transferred to the University of Utah Medical Center in Salt Lake City, she remained in critical condition for almost a month with badly damaged kidneys.

The doctors who treated her said the little girl made an extraordinarily determined fight for life.

"It's taken quite a while for her to bounce back," said her mother, "and it will be at least another month before she can be released."

"She's getting terribly bored and keeps asking to get out so she can go back to school, which she loves."

Mrs. Prestwich, who has maintained a day-and-night vigil by Karen's bedside since the accident, said her husband, a U.S. Forest Service employee, who with two other children would come to Salt Lake City this week to spend the Christmas holidays.

Her daughter's greatest unhappiness during her long hospital stay has been the prolonged separation from her two sisters, Carrie, 3, and Jenny, 1, Mrs. Prestwich added.

MAN ACCUSED

Karyn has received many gifts, including a doll sent by Roy C. Wells, 52, of Torrance, Calif., who was charged with assault with a deadly weapon in their family's ever spent.

Their 6-year-old daughter is winning a struggle for life which began when she was mistaken for a deer Nov. 6 on a rural highway near her home in North Fork, Idaho.

WAITING FOR BUS

Blonde, blue-eyed Karyn, who started first grade in September, was waiting for her school bus when she was struck in the stomach by a rifle bullet.

Taken to a Salmon, Idaho, hospital and later transferred to the University of Utah Medical Center in Salt Lake City, she remained in critical condition for almost a month with badly damaged kidneys.

The doctors who treated her said the little girl made an extraordinarily determined fight for life.

"It's taken quite a while for her to bounce back," said her mother, "and it will be at least another month before she can be released."

"She's getting terribly bored and keeps asking to get out so she can go back to school, which she loves."

Mrs. Prestwich, who has maintained a day-and-night vigil by Karen's bedside since the accident, said her husband, a U.S. Forest Service employee, who with two other children would come to Salt Lake City this week to spend the Christmas holidays.

Her daughter's greatest unhappiness during her long hospital stay has been the prolonged

INDEX

SECTION ONE
Editorials	Page 2
Twin Cities News	Page 3
Women's Section	Pages 4, 5, 6
Ann Landers	Page 6
Obituaries	Page 10
SECTION TWO
Area Highlights	Page 11
SECTION THREE
News Roundup	10 pages
SECTION FOUR
Sports	Pages 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38
Comics, TV, Radio	Page 39
Markets	Page 40
Weather Forecast	Page 40
Classified Ads	Pages 41, 42, 43

KARYN RECOVERING: Six-year-old Karyn Prestwich appears to be on the road to recovery from an accidental gunshot wound. Karyn, of North Fork, Idaho, was in critical condition for almost a month at a Salt Lake City hospital after a deer hunter mistook her for a deer and shot her. (AP Wirephoto)

Good Fellow Fund Mounting

Christmas Spirit Keeps Spreading

Herald-Press Good Fellow momentum continued as gifts totaling $221.50 arrived to push the already-record high total to $5,430.50.

It appears that by the time all the gifts are totaled the 1970 final record may hit $5,500.

The generosity of so many people who gave money, time, effort, interest, encouragement and their best wishes will enable the fund to send out a record number of gifts. This has been a hard year for many and requests for fund set a record too.

For 40 years Good Fellows under one banner or another have banded together to make sure that no one will miss Christmas.

TODAY'S DONORS

The 1st opens with Karen Nuechterlein tripping across the street with $10. Then Donna, Don and Jane slipped in with $5 when no one was looking. No sooner had they disappeared when Carol, Cicci and Polly added $5. They had only one request. Please spell "Cici" correctly.

Bill Haas put $10 into the Good Fellow fund "in memory of son Kevin Haas."

"Twas the week before Christmas and all through the house, everybody was busy, especially A. Nonnie Mouse."

Earlier we received a gift from A. Nonnie Mouse (and got it credited to the right fund, too). Then in comes $10 from A. Nonnie Mouse and the only (See back page, sec. 1, col. 1)

Thayer Paper & Janitor Supply Co. will be closed Dec. 26, Adv.

BALL AND CHAIN: Francis A. Johnson, a 66-year-old bachelor carpenter, uses a railroad jack to wind his ball of baling twine at his Darwin, Minn., home. Johnson says he began collecting the twine in 1960—and now he has 4½ tons of it. He says it all started because his mother taught him not to waste anything. (AP Wirephoto)

THE HERALD-PRESS

Editorial Page

W. J. Banyon, Editor and Publisher
Bert Lindenfeld, Managing Editor

That Tumbling Steeple Raises Old Memories

The century-old Methodist church in downtown St. Joseph came tumbling down last week, and raised the dust of memories.

Now in his 50's, St. Joseph Police Chief Tom Gillespie has been a lifelong member of the congregation. Still vivid from his boyhood is the image of a sign advertising the forthcoming appearance of a traveling evangelist. "Come — in your asbestos suit!" the sign advised.

Tom also recalls that he and other boys developed a deft technique for snitching the weekly Sunday School paper, possession of which proved to their mothers they hadn't skipped to play in nearby Lakefront park.

Bill Cohen, owner of Benton Harbor's Michigan Cleaners, was born in his father Hymen's tailor and dry-cleaning shop three blocks away from the St. Joseph church. In the year of his birth, 1910, the shop was on the first floor of a two-story building on Ship street.

"We never did anything bad; we just kept busy," Bill explains.

"We used to play 'Follow the Rabbit.' You'd make chalk marks on the sidewalks and trees and buildings, and the other kids would follow. And then somewhere you'd mark a bunch of arrows pointing outward and hide nearby. The others had to find you."

"We climbed up into trees and even on top of the old postoffice (now the 505 Building on Pleasant street). And one time one boy climbed up on top of the old Washington school and fell through the roof — it was so rotten."

They played football in "Hobo Park" about where the senior citizens' high rise now stands. They skated near the "wing dam" in the St. Joseph river. And rode down a toboggan slide erected by the St. Joseph River Yacht club on the Edgewater side of the river.

And in the Spring, they'd walk along Lake Michigan north of the North Pier and hunt "sand cherries," little blueberries, among the dunes. And at the nearby Coast Guard station "Cap" Carlson rigged a diving board for the boys and helped them all learn to swim.

"Clare Dutt was the best swimmer by far. If he'd had a coach, he could have been an Olympic champion."

Some colorful places and personalities stand out.

Johnny Fagan had a blind brother George who "had a beautiful voice and sang at all the Catholic weddings."

There was George Morgan, "a black man from Madagascar. He had an ice cream cart and sold cones for two cents apiece."

Gus Baldasini owned the Palace of Sweets. "He'd wrap a piece of paper into a cone and fill it with peanuts for a penny." Ice cream sodas were 10 cents.

Broad and Langley hills were roped off in winter for skiers and tobogganists. "We made our skis from barrel staves with leather bands for straps. And sleds were two barrel staves with a seat or a box nailed across them."

In summer, they'd use the barrel stave skis and sleds to slide down the sand of the big dune called "Devil's Hole"—about where the Benton Harbor water plant is now located.

"They were all good kids; those were good times," Bill Cohen remembers.

So Just Keep Reading

One of the worrisome things for today's would-be informed citizen is that he simply cannot read everything he thinks he ought to. There are always tag ends of news and significant opinion that he must pass by. His ability to absorb the printed word is outmatched by the flood of stuff that's printed.

Conscious of this, one's heart leaps at the news that a patent has been issued for a machine which can read and sort material at a phenomenal rate, up to 30 utility bills per minute, for example.

It's too wild a dream, though. While fast as all getout, the machine is not yet at the point of being able to read and digest material for the overworked fellow bent on being well informed. Next year, maybe.

Meanwhile, keep reading, and reading, and reading, and reading...

THE HERALD-PRESS

Published daily except Sunday by the Herald-Press Co. at 116 State St., St. Joseph, Michigan 49085. Second class postage paid at St. Joseph, Mich.

Volume 80, Number 299

MEMBER OF
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited to the Herald-Press and also the local news published herein. All rights for re-publication of special dispatches herein reserved.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

All Carrier Service 50c per week
Motor Route Service $2.00 per month
In advance
Mail to Benton, Cass, Allegan and Kalamazoo Counties $2.00 per year
All Other Mail $2.00 per year
All mail subscriptions payable in advance.
Mail orders not accepted unless carrier service is available.

The Affluent Society

GLANCING BACKWARDS

ZICK GIVEN JUDGE POST

—1 Year Ago—
Berrien Circuit Judge Karl F. Zick this week was redesignated by Fellow Berrien circuit judges as presiding judge of the Second Judicial (Berrien county) district for 1970.

Judge Zick has been presiding judge since that office was created Jan. 1, 1969, with the addition of a third circuit judge in this district.

REDS PROMISE TO HELP CUBA

—10 Years Ago—
Prime Minister Fidel Castro told sugar workers today the Communist Bloc will buy four million tons of Cuban sugar at four cents a pound next year if

WILLIAM RITT

You're Telling Me!

It's now predicted housewives some day will shop via television—making their selections on the video screen, then just pushing a button for quick delivery. Good idea—if it doesn't interfere with Mom's watching of her favorite afternoon TV soap operas!

Columbus, we read, received $320 for discovering America. A great navigator but a rotten businessman?

Italian thieves stole an 886-pound safe which contained only six cents. A case of penny UNwise and plenty of pounds foolish?

A meteorologist is a person who studies the weather, a Factograph item reveals. But, like all the rest of us, he doesn't do anything about it!

When a college football coach is hung in effigy by students it's a good indication that he's at the end of his rope.

Our office atlas reveals Antarctica has the highest mean elevation of any continent—6,000 feet. It has the meanest temperature, too!

The Atlas moth of India has a wing spread of 12 inches—a nature item. That's no bug—that's a little airplane with six legs instead of wheels!

IT HAPPENED TODAY
On this day in 1909 the first junior high school was authorized in Berkeley, Calif.

BORN TODAY

As a young man Benjamin Disraeli hesitated in deciding between a political and a the United States maintains its boycott of the island's chief crop.

Four million tons is about two-third of Cuba's normal crop, and four cents a pound is nearly one cent above the world price.

BRITISH GUNS POUND FOE

—50 Years Ago—
While British bombers, artillery, and warships were reported battering beleaguered Bardia today in an effort to smash a path through the Italian defenses, a general headquarters communiqué announced British troops had captured an additional 900 prisoners and were "clearing" the areas to the northwest and west of the eastern Libyan base.

As the British closed in, large units of the trapped Fascist forces were said to be trying desperately to slip through the ring of steel around their eastern Libyan base under cover of darkness and the pall of smoke and dust hanging over the town after five days of bombardment.

NEW SIGNS

—40 Years Ago—
The St. Joseph city commission last night authorized the expenditure of approximately $600 in the erection of 225 new street signs. The new signs will be the four-way type visible from every angle at street intersections.

ELECTED CRITIC

—50 Years Ago—
Word has been received that Miss Isabelle Fyfe, former St. Joseph high school student, has been elected critic of literary society at Cornell college.

BOOMING BUSINESS

—50 Years Ago—
Never before in the history of the local postoffice have so many cards come pouring in.

THE BAND PLAYS ON

—50 Years Ago—
Swan's band is celebrating Christmas time by playing popular airs around the business streets. Substantial courtesies are shown to them in a number of places.

RUTH RAMSEY

Today's Grab Bag

THE ANSWER QUIK!

1 — Who was Mother Shipton?
2 — Who was Mother Cabrini?
3 — What is a Mother Hubbard?

4 — When is Mother's Day?
5 — Who was the mother of St. John the Baptist?

WATCH YOUR LANGUAGE
PERSISTENCE — PUR-SIR-ENS — noun; steady persistence in a course of action; a purpose, a state, etc.

YOUR FUTURE

Life will proceed evenly and happily along its predestined way. Today's child will be astute and refined.

IT'S BEEN SAID

Envy assails the noblest; the winds howl around the highest peaks.

IT HAPPENED TODAY

On this day in 1909 the first junior high school was authorized in Berkeley, Calif.

BORN TODAY

As a young man Benjamin Disraeli hesitated in deciding between a political and a literary career. His final choice gave Britain one of her outstanding statesmen and prime ministers.

He was a member of Parliament, leader of the opposition in Commons, thrice chancellor of the exchequer and twice prime minister.

Disraeli was created a peer in 1876. It was by his initiative that Britain acquired the Suez Canal nearly 100 years ago—a move that had effects so far-reaching that they extend into the present era.

He was responsible for having Queen Victoria proclaimed Empress of India and for negotiating "peace with honor" at the Congress of Berlin.

As a young man, he looked forward to a literary career. His best novels, written at this time, are marked by acute wit. Disraeli was famous for his wit—sharp realism and an individual style. His works include "Vivian Grey," "The Wondrous Tale of Alroy," "Henrietta Temple," and "Coningsby" or "The New Generation."

Several of his novels reveal the pride which Disraeli, a baptized Angelican, felt in his Jewish ancestry.

His nonfiction works are now chiefly of historical interest, but like his novels, they show his conservative convictions, his disdain for theories of abstract rights and his trust in democratic Toryism.

Disraeli felt the duty of social reform and exhibited his pride in the British empire and the crown on every occasion.

Disraeli, the first Earl of Beaconsfield, died in 1881.

Others born today include Jane Fonda, Josef Stalin, Walter Hagen and John W. McCormack.

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1 — A British seeress of the 15th century who predicted the automobile and airplane at that time.

2 — First American citizen to be canonized a saint.

3 — A full, loose gown for women.

4 — The second Sunday of May.

5 — Elizabeth, cousin of Mary.

EDITOR'S MAILBAG

Editor,
The Herald-Press.

RAILROAD UNIONS NOT GETTING RIGHTS?

I find it's time for the railroads to stand up and demand that we be treated like first class citizens.

The laws, the courts, the Government—they're all stacked against allowing members of railroad unions to use the weapons that other labor unions are free to use. The long tedious procedures that must be followed in the railroad industry before self help can be applied in labor disputes are bad enough. But when that self help period does arrive, there is always a judge or the Government to further deprive us of our rights. The railroad knows this.

It's too wild a dream, though. While fast as all getout, the machine is not yet at the point of being able to read and digest material for the overworked fellow bent on being well informed. Next year, maybe.

That's why they stall and wait for the system to do their work rather than engage in real bargaining. In other industries negotiations are allowed to proceed to a point of settlement or strike. In our case, we have tried every avenue to get a settlement freely arrived at. We have bent over backwards but all we get is delay after delay.

Policemen, firemen, mailmen, truckmen, teachers, seem to be able to strike. General Electric was struck. But the minute a strike is called on a railroad, all kinds of stop orders are issued. Even when we make a settlement, too often it is on the pattern outlined by a board rather than a true give and take.

Rail workers are entitled to settle disputes with carriers without Government intervention. Collective bargaining should be allowed to function freely in a free society.

V. L. STOKES

Locomotive Engineer
Penn Central
Niles

DR. COLEMAN

.. And Speaking Of Your Health

What's so bad about the hallucinations caused by LSD? I have tried it, and when I am finished with a trip I have no aftereffects.

Mr. E. J., Calif.
Dear Mr. E. J.: I wish I could show a photostat of your letter in its entirety to young readers and their parents.

It would clearly demonstrate that your concept "no aftereffects" is entirely wrong, perhaps even delusional. Moreover it would highlight the danger of this and other psychadelic Dr. Coleman drugs.

You have dropped out of school. You are mixed up with a gang of pot smokers. You have not been able to hold a job. You are in a constant of anger and hostility.

You've got an answer for everything that helps you avoid responsibility to yourself and your family.

You've "copped out" on all your obligations with standard excuses, and you are sacrificing the hopeful joys and rewards of living for the escape into the artificial world of drugs.

Yes, you do have aftereffects—permanent aftereffects that are leaving their telltale marks on your life and are depriving you of your real potential.

Hallucinations that result from any one of the many drugs that are regrettably available to you and to other "sophisticated" young adults are identified by psychologists in the following way:

They give you a false sense of perception, with no relationship

Did you say "no aftereffects?"

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Some form of regulated exercise is beneficial. Try it.

Dr. Lester Coleman has a special eye-care booklet available for readers of this column called, "What You Should Know About Glaucoma and Cataracts." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed 6-cent stamp and envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., P.O. Box 5170, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

JAY BECKER

Contract Bridge

East dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH
K 6 5 2
K 8 7 5
A 8 7 6 3

WEST
A 10 9 8 7 6
Q 9 8 7 3

THE HERALD-PRESS

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., MONDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1970

Twin City
News

OPERATION SUCCESSFUL: Six year-old Jane Urbano has the Christmas spirit as she assists her mother in wrapping Christmas presents. The Urbano family of 1933 Colfax avenue, Fairplain, has a special reason for celebrating Christmas this year since Jane's open heart surgery last October to correct a hole in her heart was declared a success last Tuesday by doctors at the University of Michigan hospital in Ann Arbor.

Whirlpool Writes Off $14 Million

Whirlpool Corp. will make special provision in its 1970 financial reporting to write off $14 million in anticipated losses and expenses related to two models of central gas air conditioners manufactured at its Ft. Smith, Ark., plant.

Elisha Gray II, chairman of the board of Whirlpool, said that manufacture and sale of three-ton and five-ton capacity central gas air conditioners has been halted completely. He said the units generally have functioned well, but that "some, over a period of time, have not measured up to Whirlpool's high standards."

TO IMPROVE QUALITY

Gray said manufacture of the units would not be resumed until an engineering program to improve their quality and performance has been completed and the long-range viability of the gas air conditioner market has been established.

The $14 million write-off after taxes, expected to be shown in the year end report will include $2.5 million in operating losses incurred on the air conditioners and already shown in previous earning reports for the first nine months of 1970.

Gray said Whirlpool earnings for fourth quarter will be "disappointing," because of a nine-week strike at the firm's Evansville, Ind., division.

Looking further ahead, Gray declared: "Since many of the problems that have confronted Whirlpool this year are behind us, we view the outlook for 1971 with optimism."

Boy Killed By Car Window

KENTWOOD (AP) — A five-year-old boy was killed in the driveway of his home Friday when the rear power window of a station wagon snapped up on his chest and throat strangling him. Kentwood police reported.

Kevin Cook was playing in the car when "somehow the key was placed in the ignition," said Police Chief Richard Dryer of Kentwood, a Grand Rapids suburb. "The lad was apparently crawling out the back window when he must have hit the switch and the window came up."

BH Fire Inspection Bureau In New Spot

The fire inspection bureau of the Benton Harbor fire department is now located on the second floor of city hall with other inspection offices.

Fire chief Harold Gaddie said the bureau moved from quarters in the fire department to room 205 for greater efficiency and convenience of citizens. Room 205 also contains building, plumbing and electrical inspection offices.

The fire department inspection bureau is charged with rental inspection, housing inspection and handling of complaints related to inspection. The telephone number is 925-7081.

Best Christmas Gift Of All For Little Girl

Heart Surgery Brings Her Normal Life

By BILL RUSH
Staff Writer

What does a six year-old girl enjoy most during the Christmas holidays? Maybe it's the suspense of what Santa Claus will bring, or the excitement of putting up the Christmas tree, or playing outside in the snow with friends, or even waiting to go back to school.

This is what Jane Urbano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Urbano, 1933 Colfax avenue, Fairplain, can look forward to after a six week isolation period following her open heart surgery last October.

OPERATION DELAYED

Jane was born with a hole in her heart. The Urbanos were informed of this when she was seven weeks old. "Doctors advised us to delay an operation until Jane was five or six," said Mrs. Urbano.

Jane celebrated her sixth birthday Oct. 4 and entered the University of Michigan hospital in Ann Arbor two weeks later. Surgery was performed two days later.

Jane spent ten days after her operation in the hospital. "She took it very well and enjoyed the hospital. She even liked going to school there," said Mrs. Urbano.

Jane's six week isolation period ended December 15 when doctors in Ann Arbor pronounced the operation a success and gave her permission to return to school.

The story doesn't just end with the successful operation. Part of it concerns friendship and giving and caring for other people.

BLOOD DONATED

The Urbanos are originally from Waterloo, New York, and only came to Benton Harbor two years ago. But when word of Jane's forthcoming operation drifted back to Waterloo, last October friends and acquaintances volunteered to give blood.

Sixty five persons in the Waterloo area gave blood for Jane. One close friend organized a car pool and drove people to the local blood mobile unit.

Jane's story has a happy ending. At last word, she was outside playing with her friends. Now she can happily await Santa Claus.

Invitation Is Not Necessary

"If you didn't receive an invitation, you're still invited," a cationing college students were informed today by Fran Klemm, chairman of "Operation Native Son and Daughter."

The event sponsored by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and local business, industries and schools will be held Dec. 29 at the new Ramada Inn, Benton Harbor. Purpose is to keep local college graduates working in the Twin Cities area.

Klemm said invitations have been sent to college juniors and seniors who have graduated from local high schools. Klemm stressed that students who did not graduate from local high schools, but whose parents have moved into the area, are also invited to participate.

Plans for the toy company call for moving to new larger facilities where mass production of the toys can be accomplished. Hughes hopes to make this move by the spring and hire several persons to help in the production.

The name of the company "Collet" is derived from Co., for Coloma and "liet" from Watervliet.

The plastic case, already pre-shaped, is hand painted, assembled, and packaged in the basement of the Hughes' home. Hughes' first started the company in 1965 with the backing of local investors. Toys that he has experimented with include a flying saucer, a spider (Yoo-Yoo) and a vinyl plastic train that appears indestructable.

"We first started the business thinking that the dollar items would be best, but we shifted our philosophy after learning that they require too high a production," said Hughes.

10 Killed

A car-snowmobile accident took the lives of a young couple at a rural intersection near Bad Axe Sunday. Police said David Fienkel, 23, and Sandy Koss, 17, were thrown over the front of a snowmobile on which they were riding and crashed into a car. Miss Koss died of a broken neck and Fienkel suffered a fractured skull.

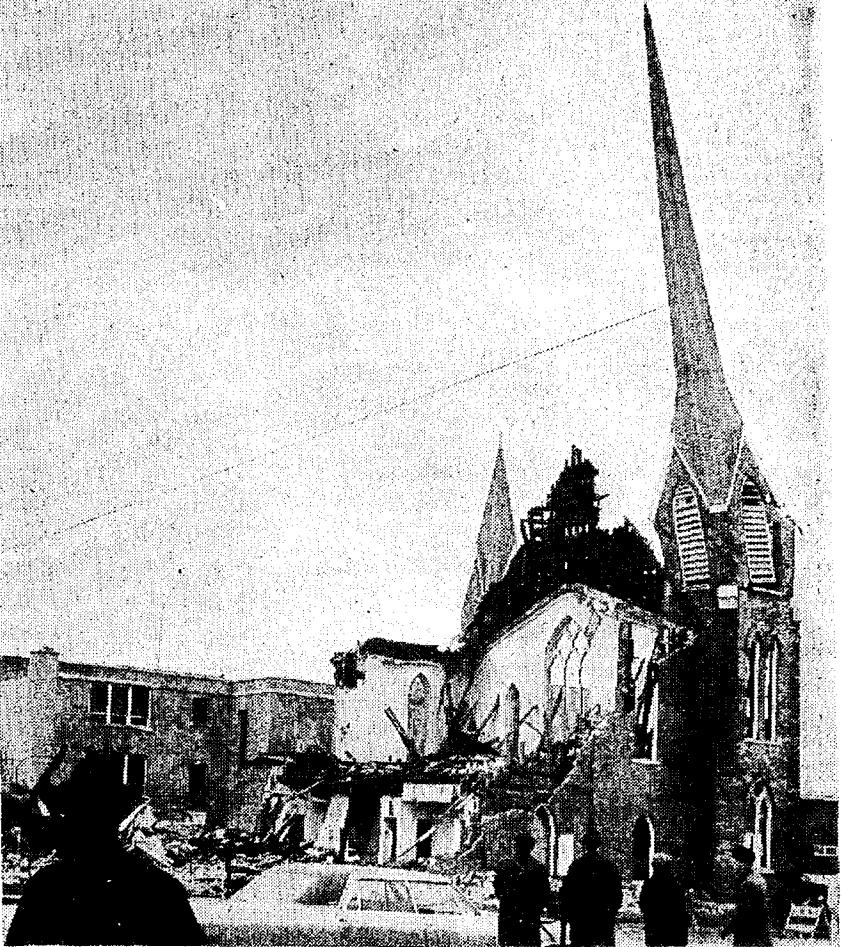

The accident brought the Associated Press weekend traffic fatality count to ten persons.

The count began at six p.m.

Friday and continued through Sunday.

PINK PANTHER PHONOGRAPH: Carol Lynn Hughes, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hughes, Coloma, is entertained by the Pink Panther phonograph which her father designed and manufactures at their home. Hughes, who heads the Collet Toy Manufacturing Company, plans soon to begin mass production of the phonographs, which he has exclusive rights to sell. (Cliff Stevens photo)

Century-Old Landmark Falls

Church steeple that had stood in St. Joseph since 1869 was toppled in a matter of hours, once man and machine went to work on it. Even then, the landmark gave way grudgingly because a bulldozer was called in to give extra power to a front end loader that couldn't do the job alone. Machines demolished steeple by pulling it over with a cable. The steeple was at the former First Methodist church, Main and Broad streets. Staff photographer Harry Smith caught this sequence as it came down. First United Methodist church occupies new quarters on Leco court.

